

Nikhil Patkar, MD is a Professor of Hematopathology at the Tata Memorial Centre in Mumbai, India with a clinical focus on Hematopathology and Molecular Pathology. He trained in Genomics at the Departments of Laboratory Medicine & Genome Sciences at the University of Washington. He is a recipient of the Wellcome Trust – DBT Intermediate Fellowship for Clinician Researchers. His research interests include the development of novel, cost effective, next generation sequencing assays for clinical application and the detection of measurable residual disease in acute myeloid leukemia using sequencing as well as multicolour flow cytometry. He has published in leading journals such as Blood Cancer Journal and Leukemia.